Origination

Passing the geocentric and the heliocentric phases, humankind is on the cusp of the most essential revelation of the consciocentric phase. The basic mathematical links of the causal chain are defined and elaborated by the solar system, the Solar Scripture. This Preamble to the universe is the human abode that holds the Divine Lessons set by the eight planets and nine orbits. The asteroids at the fifth orbit divides the planets into four terrestrial and four gaseous ones, providing the fundamentals of mathematics and the stages of development of the human mind. The moment of realising logically when, where and what for is mathematics included in a particle denotes the beginning of a journey to the consciocentric universe. Discovering consciousness of the entire universe amounts to discovering ourselves; identifying the organisation of our consciousness amounts to identifying the universe. Humanity stands at a point linking the end of all past phases from the earliest known time until now and the beginning of another phase leading to the birth-intended human destination: the Primordial Om, every scripture and messenger, the Buddha and the Eight Precepts, Moses and the Ten Commandments, Jesus and the Message he received, Muhammad and the oft-repeating Quran.
